

Sproule and GPMi Ink Strategic Alliance to Offer Integrated Subsurface and Infrastructure Evaluation and Advisory Services

Sproule Associates Limited (Sproule) and Gas Processing Management Inc. (GPMi) are pleased to announce a strategic alliance, offering planning and advisory services across the complete oil and gas value chain, from the reservoir to end use markets.

Recognized as respective industry leaders in reservoir analysis and infrastructure planning and evaluation, Sproule and GPMi are uniquely positioned to provide integrated field development planning service offerings including A&D valuation, LNG feedstock planning, resource forecasts and market analysis, reservoir development, infrastructure analysis and opportunity identification, and training solutions all designed to maximize asset value.

“This alliance means that we become a “one stop shop”, offering clients trusted and integrated subsurface, infrastructure, and market advice,” said GPMi Founding Principal John Kingsbury.

“We are excited about the opportunity to pair Sproule’s comprehensive reservoir knowledge with GPMi’s surface infrastructure and product market expertise, providing our clients with a blueprint for effectively planning their field development projects,” said Harry Helwerda, President of Sproule.
